Immersive Experiences

Visiting the Rivers to Canal Wine Corridor provides a trail to both immerse in and support the unique culture of Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Each corridor winery (see above ★) produces unique terroir wines. They are all united by a mission to provide authentic-centered wine experiences that connect visitors...such as giving back to bay river health, taking part in the daily chores of an authentic working farm, supporting the fine art of conversation, to offering an intimate educative peek as to how Upper Eastern Shore Terroir wines are crafted.

Inside this brochure, discover more about each of these three corridor wineries and the immersive experiences in which they specialize.

About the Corridor

The Rivers to Canal Wine Corridor stretches along Scenic Byway 213 on Maryland's Upper Eastern Shore, at the narrowest landmass between two bays, the Delaware Bay and the Chesapeake Bay. This rare geographic setting creates a distinct climate and truly unique wine terroir.

The Rivers to Canal wineries offer a trio of distinctive experiences for the visitor and award-winning wines to sip, all reflective of the terroir. In one day, wine enthusiasts can experience all three wineries, as they are 20 minutes apart. Those who are looking for a longer experience can stay and explore historic Chestertown on the south end of the corridor and/or travel up to Chesapeake City, which sits on the north end at the scenic C&D Canal.
